Foreword

Seaman began the 1966-1967 school year as Unified District 345. Although the name was changed, Seaman remained the same, a place of learning, where one could communicate with others. The sophomore class was the largest that Seaman has ever had. With the variety of students, many different attitudes were found at Seaman.

Due to the escalating war in Viet Nam and other border conflicts, many senior boys were thinking of the draft call; however, some of them spent all their time concentrating on the girls' new mini-skirts and the many adventures of the Green Hornet.

We, the yearbook staff of 1967, proudly present this yearbook to you. We hope that it will meet your expectations, and that through the years you will glance through it and be reminded of all the pleasant and profitable times at Seaman High School.

It doesn't pay to be bad.

"Oh, no, not again."

I don't believe a word of it.

This is Mr. Lauffer's favorite hobby.

Dedication

The 1966-67 yearbook staff is proud to dedicate this edition of THE SEAMAN to Mr. Richard Lauffer, who has served Seaman for eleven years and is now leaving to take the position of principal at Desoto High School.

Mr. Lauffer came to Seaman in the fall of 1956 and taught world and american history, physical education, and general math. He was also freshman football, basketball, and track coach. Teaching psychology and sociology, Mr. Lauffer accepted the position of vice-principal in 1963.

His personal interest in and guidance of Seaman students has been of much value throughout his years as both teacher and administrator.

"I don't care as long as you do all the work."

Mr. Pitts, Assistant Superintendent discusses Sturgeon Bay plans with Mr. Colaw.

Mr. Frederick, Principal

Administration

Many of Mr. Frederick's responsibilities are unnoticed by students. Not only does he administer and supervise the instructional program and manage the personnel staff, but he is in charge of financial management, health services, custodial services, maintenance and repair and new equipment. In addition to general assistance, Mr. Lauffer is in charge of attendance, student teachers, and the textbook rental program. He also plans extracurricular activities, and transportation to school functions such as class field trips and school sports.

Mr. Lauffer, Vice Principal

Mr. Colaw, Superintendent

Personnel

Mrs. Loss gets the mail.

Would you believe I couldn't find it?

What do you think of my new invention?

Mrs. Brady has a very busy year.

Mr. Burks checks over the engine.

George and Sarge clean-up.

Would you believe.....?

Oh! Really?

Is biology really that hard?

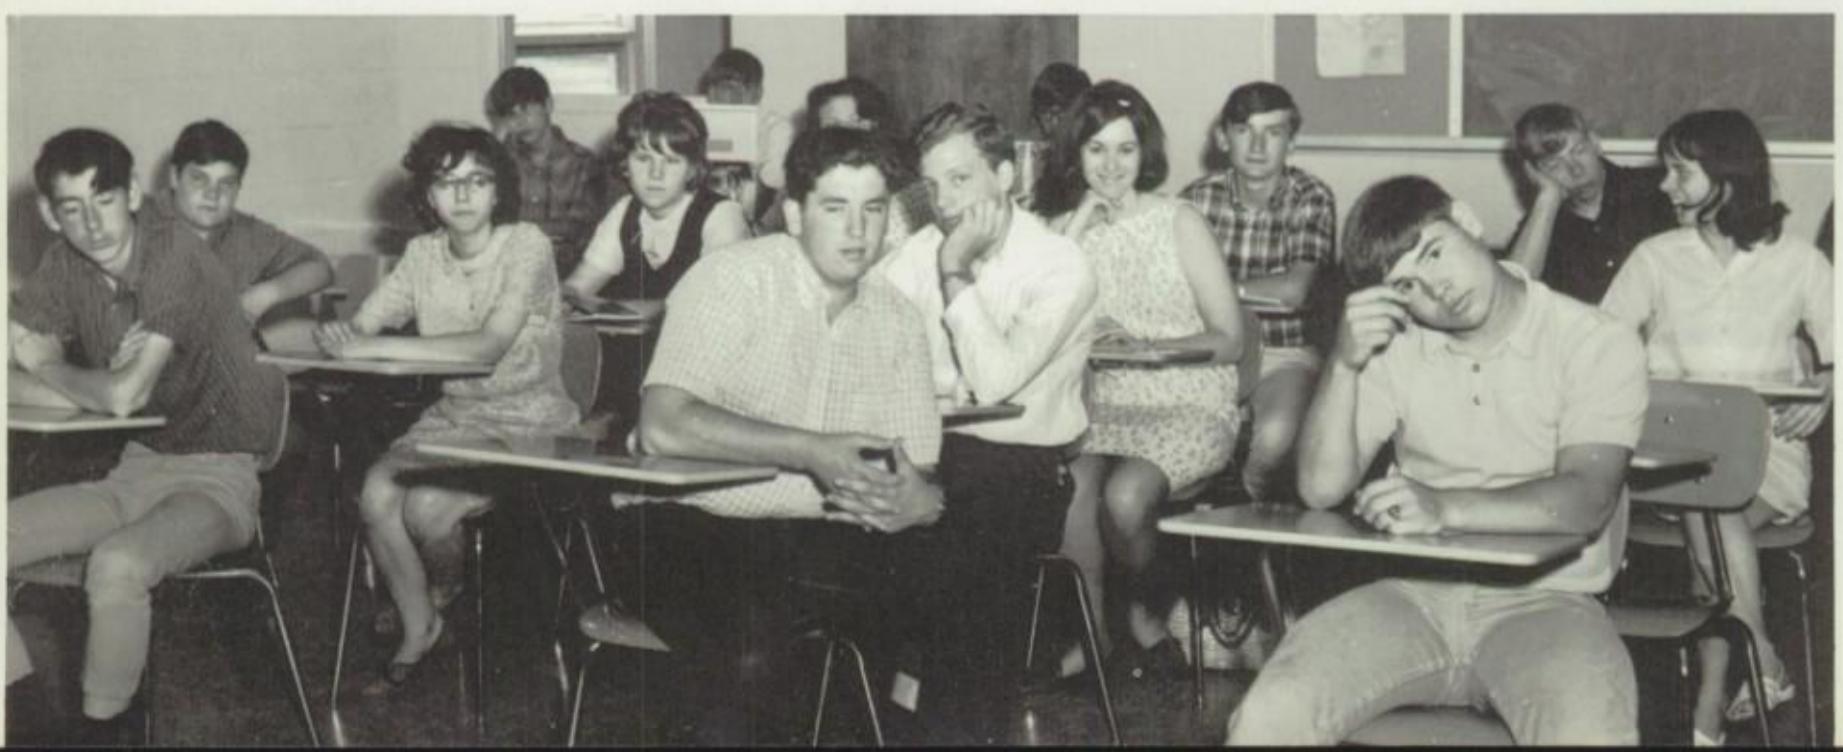

Hold everything!

..... and another thing .....

School is boring or at least a good place to get some sleep.

Mr. Hawks works diligently.

Mrs. Epps, Guidance Counselor gives help to many people.

Counselors Encourage Students

This is the year the guidance office outgrew its broom closet. Now upon entering the office, one steps onto a beige carpet. The room is furnished in rich walnut furniture, and multi-colored drapes hang at the windows. Mrs. Epps has decorated the office with some of her own art work. A long table, cabinets and files for records, and a large desk aid Mrs. Epps in her guidance work.

Mrs. Jernberg conducted a research project to compare the block plan to the extended plan of speech therapy. Instead of having three times as many students once a week for eighteen weeks, she saw the same students three times a week for six weeks. She feels the more constant repetition and emphasis promotes faster results.

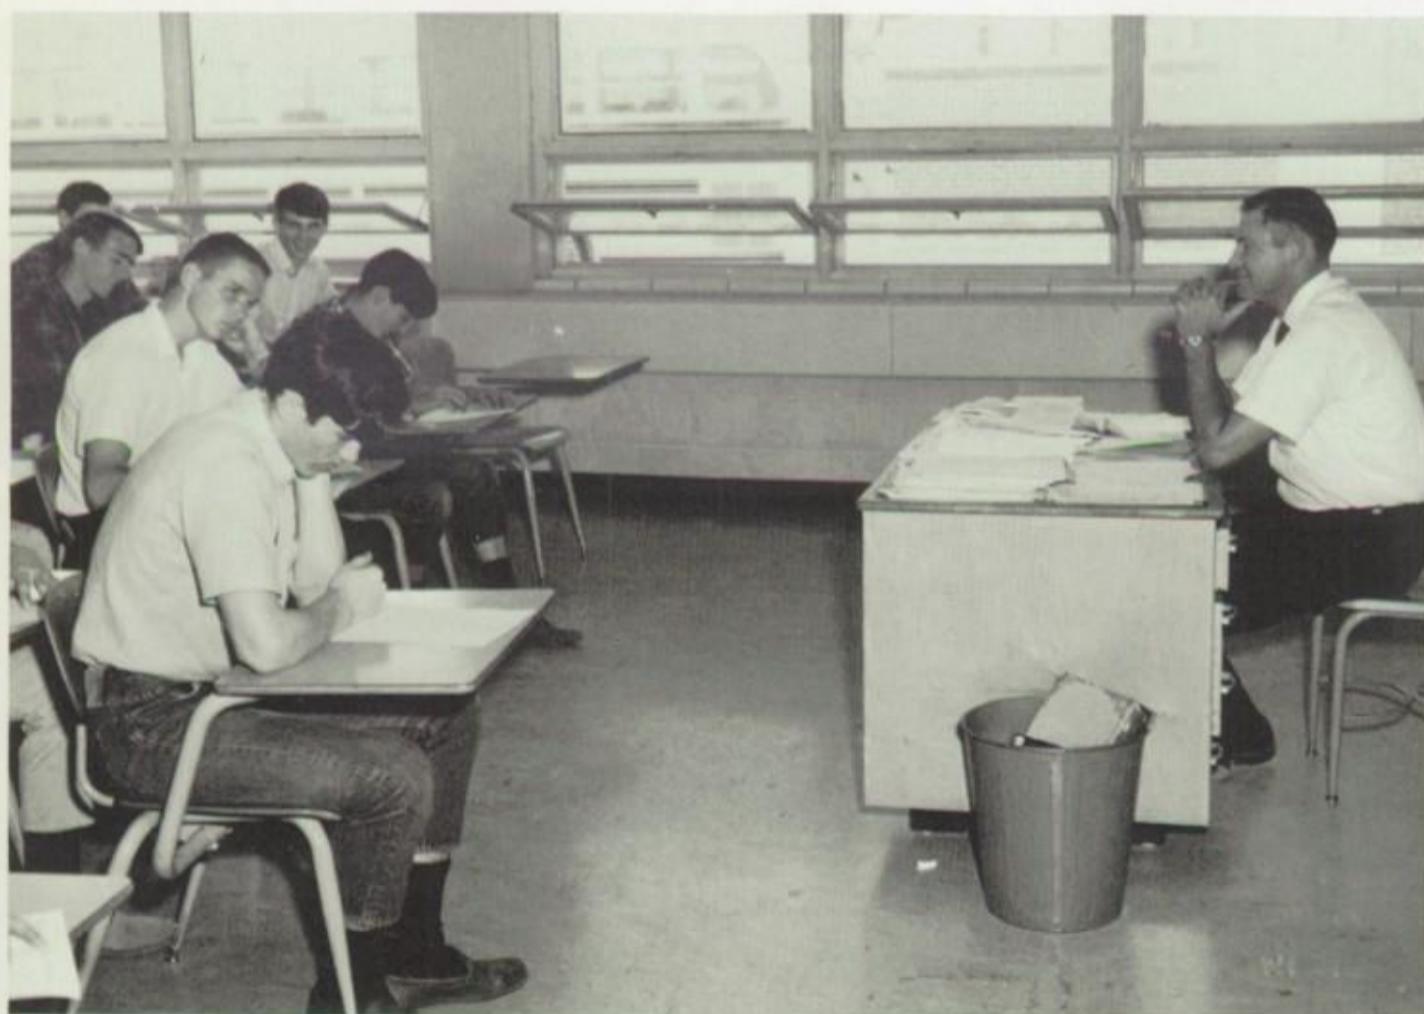

The director of special services of districts 345 and 278, Mr. Hawks, supervised three speech therapists and four psychologists. He was also in charge of homebound instruction of students with special needs, and supervised the six special education classes in both districts.

On Friday mornings Mrs. Shelby, the school nurse, visited Seaman and was available for consultation and instruction. Teachers referred students to the nurse, who helped with eye problems, diabetic problems, and other personal problems. A special cancer-check program, under the direction of Mrs. Shelby for senior girls and their mothers, was adopted by the Cancer Society.

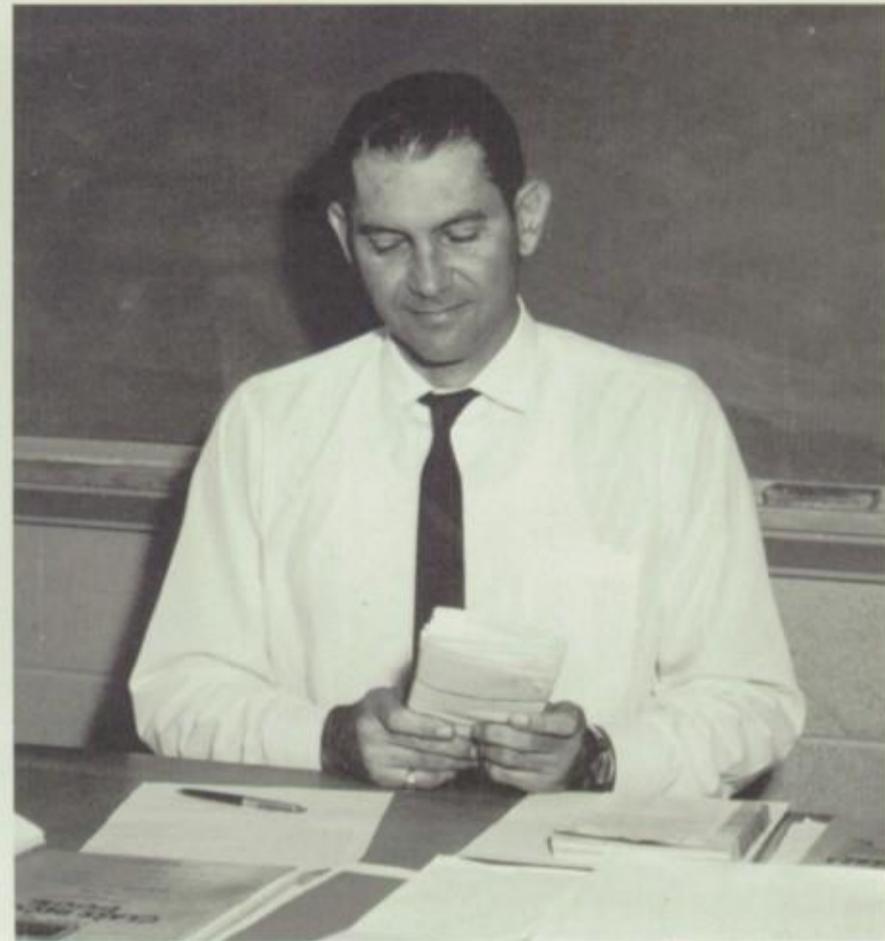

Math teachers discuss plans for their classes.

Mr. Johnson supervises his class during a test.

Mr. Bierman heads for class.

Mr. Johnson contemplates.

Math Department Has Varied Roles

The math department of Seaman High School is one with varied roles. The classes range from Applied Mathematics to Trigonometry and Probabilities. The main purpose of the department is to prepare students for college. These classes also help students to learn practical applications of math for everyday use.

To meet the requirements for graduation each student must complete one year's study of mathematics. After this requirement has been met, the students may continue their study by taking all the courses available in math.

Mr. Wagner begins another day of classes.

"Are you for real?"

Students Gain Understanding in Science

Through lecture sessions, reading and homework assignments, audio-visual materials and laboratory experiences, Mr. Willis tries to arouse scientific interest, induce the process of scientific thinking and methods, familiarize the student with scientific terms, and help him to develop laboratory techniques and the skill of exact observation and scientific terms. He also attempts to help the pupil understand and appreciate his environment.

In chemistry a student studies the nature of matter, the composition of matter and the change that matter undergoes in chemical combinations. A physics student studies the properties of matter and energy. Most of his work involves applying mathematical principles to physical principles. Earth science is a study of several science fields including geology, astronomy, paleontology, oceanography and meteorology. By studying earth science, the student becomes more aware of his physical world and the forces that shape and act in the physical world.

Mr. Glaze and Mr. Freel strive to help students gain understanding of the cell and its processes and to relate it to the plant and animal kingdoms. Lab experiments give students an opportunity to work as scientists in making observations, recording results, and drawing conclusions. Experiments whose answers aren't printed in a book, prove especially effective.

"Boy, if you ask for one more pass!"

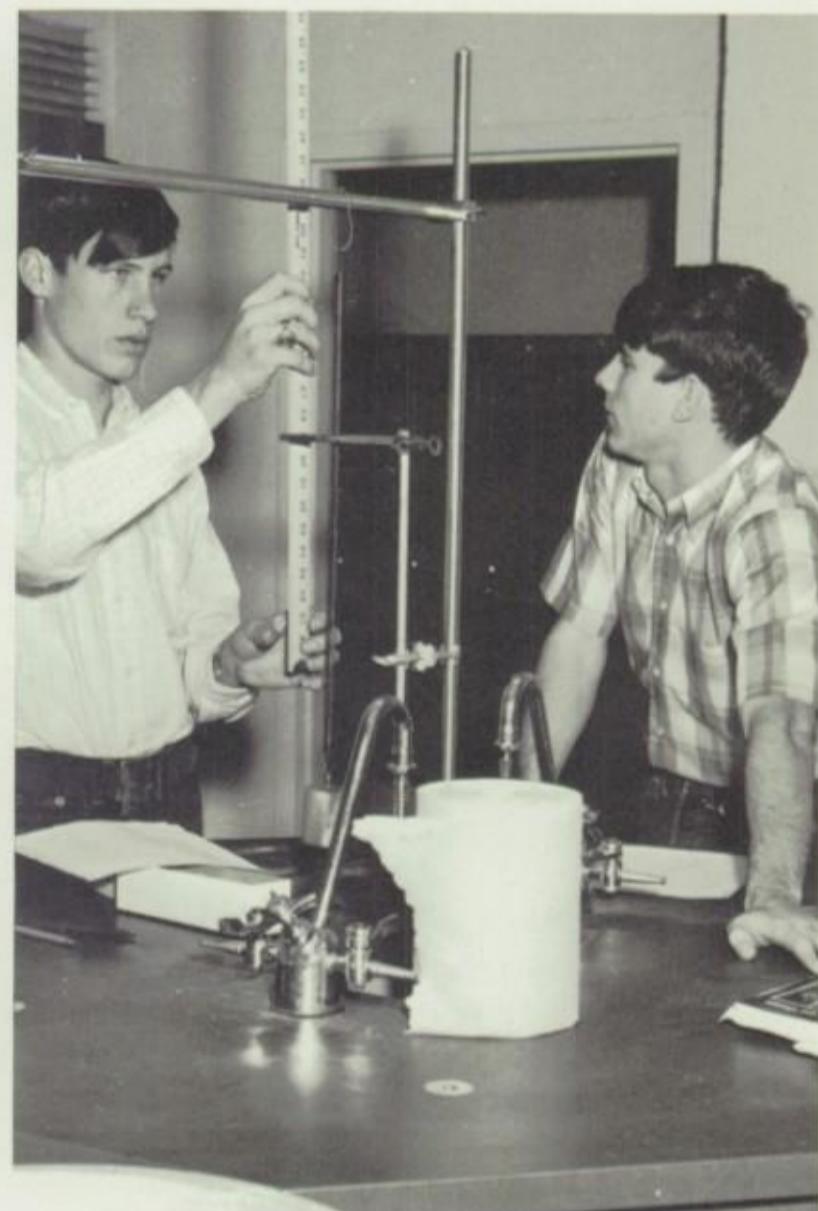

"When I count to three, run!"

Mr. Freel, Mr. Glaze and Mr. Willis check over an experiment.

Dan Spurlock and Jim Shanks set up their experiment.

Galen Hood and Bob Forster take their work seriously.

Mr. Emrich lectures his history class.

The driver's education classes combatted the school's parking problem by organizing the parking lot. Numbers, representing specific parking stalls, were issued to each student who drove to school regularly.

A trip to the Kansas Neurological Institute made psychology students more aware of mental and physical birth defects. Only one psychology and sociology class, with over fifty students, was taught this year.

Caught in the act of being himself.

Simulation Spurs

Problem Classes

This year's American history classes were divided into committees of 4-5 persons. These committees, headed by a chairman, designed the bulletin boards in the history room each week and handled much of the class recitation, giving reports on different periods of history. A complete overhead course and American Heritage filmstrips were used in the class study.

A better understanding of the government, democracies and dictatorships, was the goal in the American problems classes. The American problems and International Relations classes combined for simulation, in which fifty countries were represented in mock government. One group of American problems classes had a total of three instructors during the year. Mr. William Maddox, who started the year, was drafted, and Mrs. Emma Winkle filled in until the second semester.

Smile! You're on Candid Camera.

I'm telling you I really did have 20% fewer cavities.

"You put this here, this here, this over there, move this up here, turn this around....."

You are now witnessing the Quaker Life Debate.

Language Students

Enter Conurso

The third year Spanish Class entered the Conurso at Wichita State University. Competing against four hundred students, Dan Matney received a one rating and Kay Liskey, a three in the prose catagory. In the poetry competition Debbie Beach, Lynn Wattenbarger, and Joanne Rome received 2's, and Linda Watson received a 3. This was the first time that Seaman foreign language students have entered such a contest.

The third year also toured the Nelson Art Gallery and viewed an unusual authentic collection of old and new Spanish paintings, a typical Spanish chapel, a monastery courtyard, suits of armor, and silver and gold handiwork.

You wouldn't believe what I almost said.

Miss Miley tries to teach a little Spanish.

Let's hurry and fix this thing before Miss Miley gets back.

All you get out of me is my name, rank, and serial number.

How did you know I was listening to KEWI?

Students were again aided this year by the use of the language laboratory. Individual instruction, drills, and exercises enabled each language student to work on different phases during his classroom period.

and then I climbed clear to the top.

Dear Miss Medford, I am writing this letter to.....

This is Red Wing I to Red Wing II. Come in Red Wing II. Over and out.

Art students display their projects.

Mrs. Hart watches carefully as her students display a few of their hidden talents.

Students show Mrs. Hart the show case.

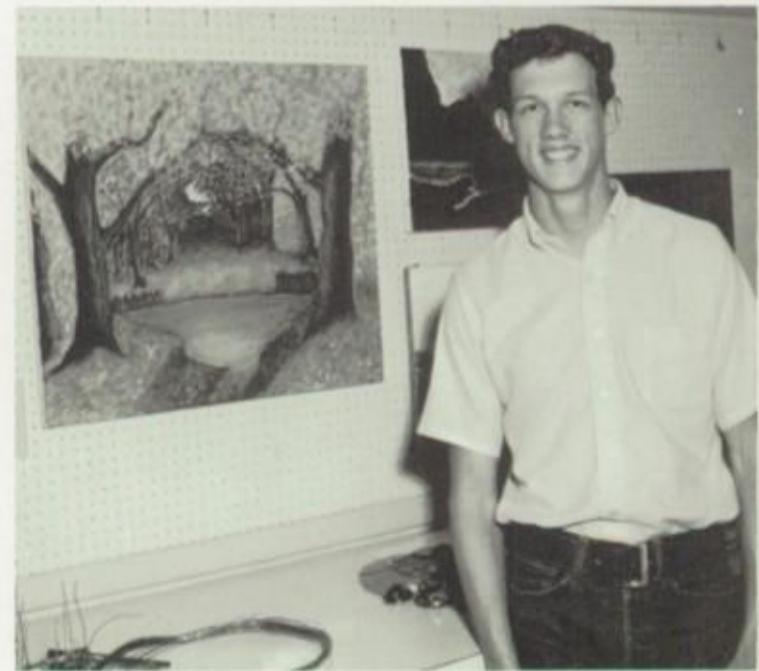

Mrs. Hart poses in front of her students' paintings on display.

Fine Arts Classes

Study the History of Art

During the year many interesting and unique works of art were put on display by the art department. Art is a class in which one can express his feelings. In the beginning classes, the students learn the basics of drawing. They studied the history of art from the beginning art to modern. The advanced classes chose projects to work on and the projects, jewelry, ceramics, oil painting and sculpture, were finished at the students' own speeds.

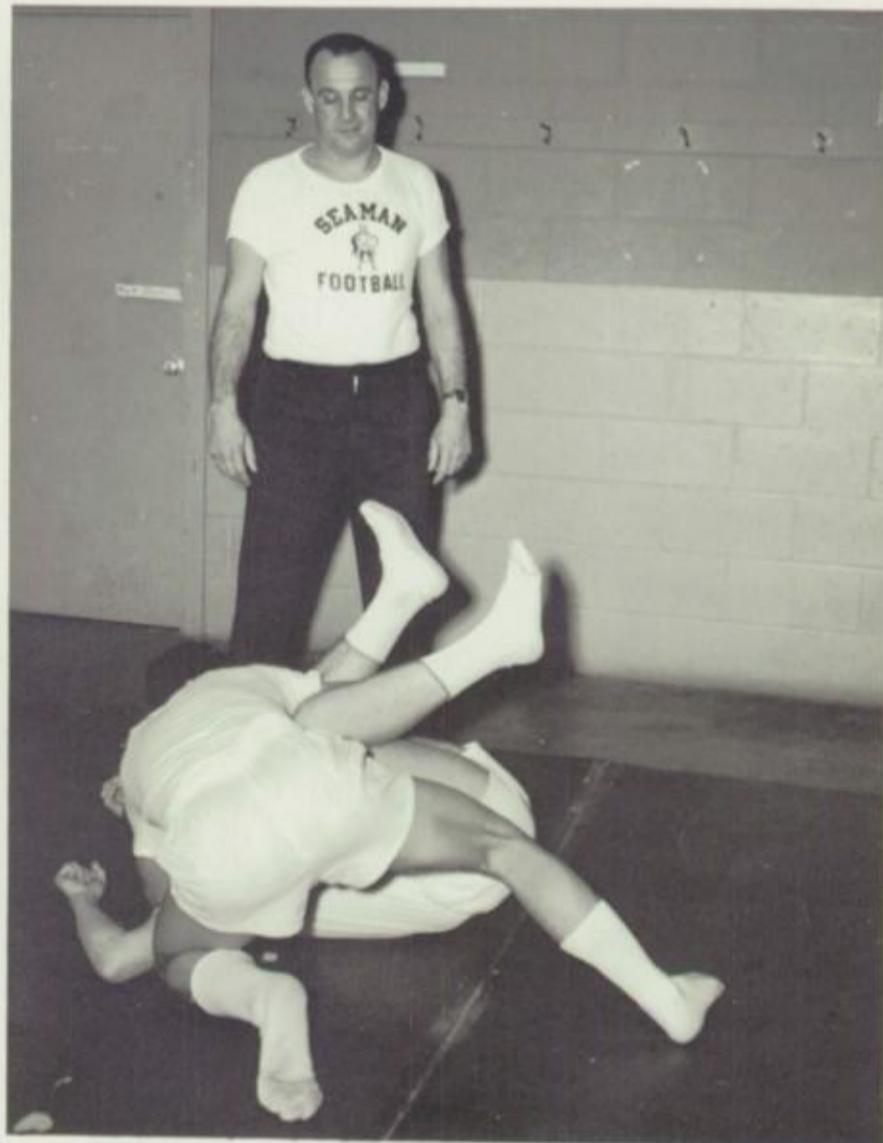

That's it, Larry! Give us a great big smile!

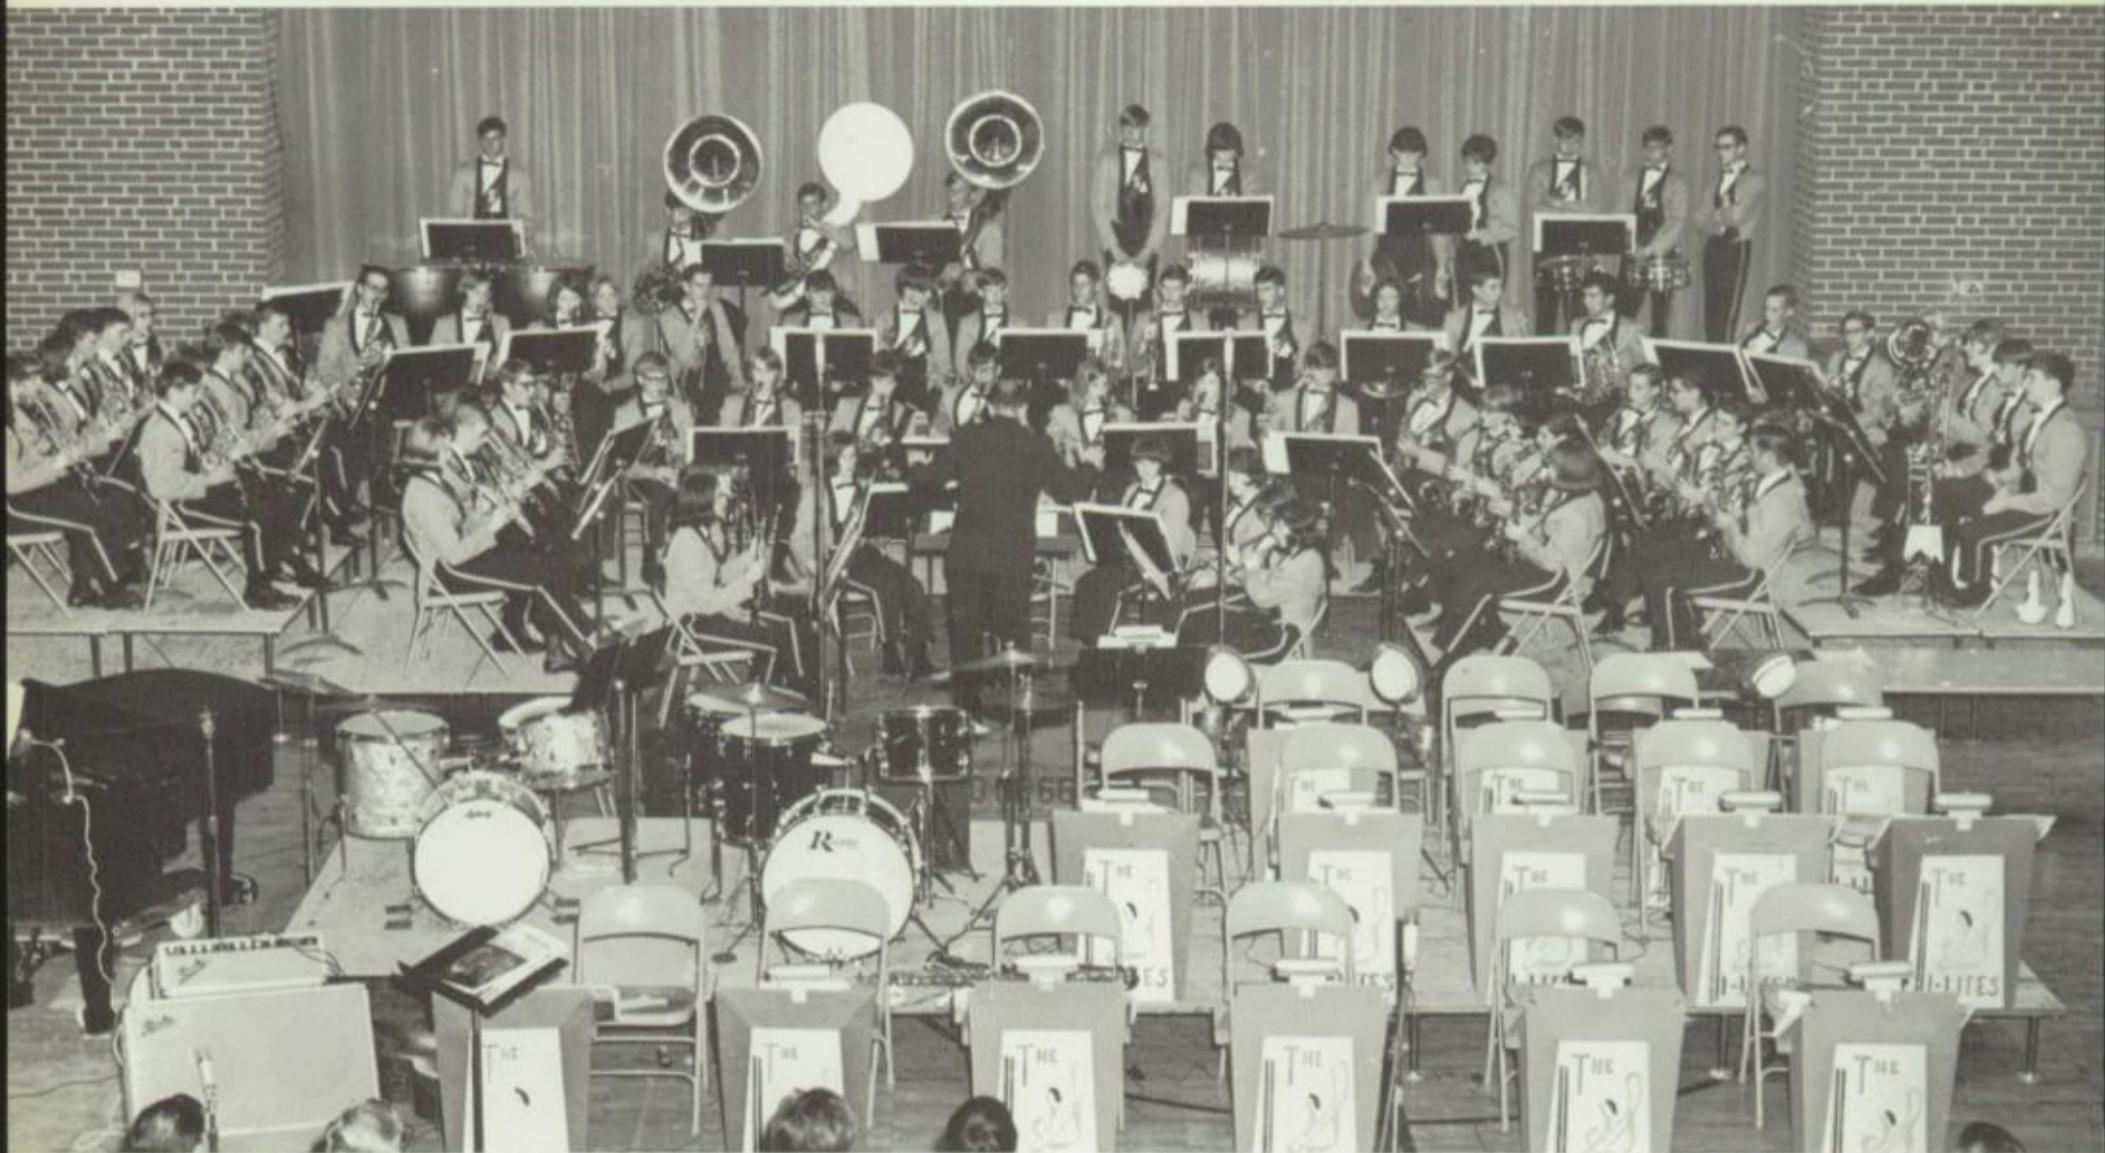

Teachers: Mr. Mosley, Miss Glick, and Mr. Glaze chuckle over tardy passes.

Senior Leaders Help Create Participation among Underclassmen.

The senior leaders were a great asset to the physical education classes as they helped to instill a sense of safety and cooperation among the underclassmen. Indoor and outdoor activities helped the students to develop physically, emotionally, and socially. In physical education one learned to develop skills and muscle coordination. Another aim was to produce a better person through sportsmanship and participation. Linda Binggeli and Jim Buswell achieved the title of the most physically fit boy and girl at Seaman.

"That'll teach you!"

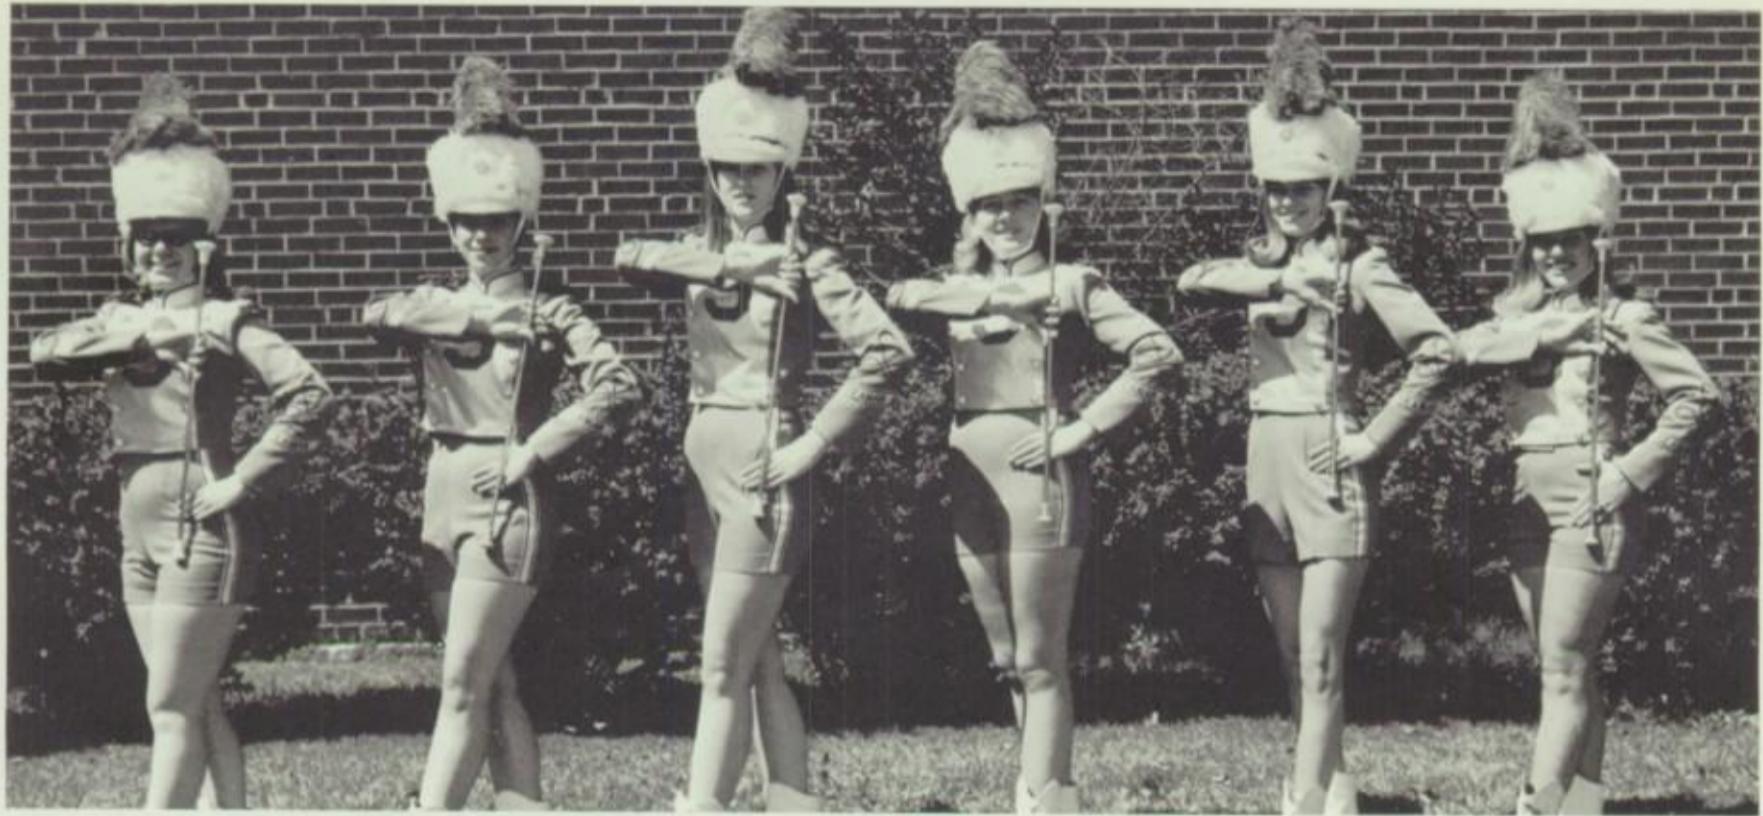

1966-67 VIKING BAND PERFORMS
AT BAND CONCERT

BAND DIRECTOR: Mr. Stroud

Seaman Band Travels Far and Near

The Viking Band journeyed to Emporia and Manhattan for Band Days and marched in the Atchison Halloween Parade and other Topeka parades. Half-time entertainment for basketball and football games was provided by the band. Music was played for the Broadway Show, Bye, Bye, Birdie, by the pit orchestra; and the brass choir participated in the Christmas program. A pop concert and annual spring concert was presented, and Seaman sponsored the Annual Centennial League music clinic. The band toured the grade schools in the district, and as its final presentation, provided commencement music.

The 1966-67 twirlers were: Melva Brooks, Vickie Johnson, Sheryl Jacobs, Sandy Garanson, Karen Patton, Linda Wylie.

You really didn't have to take this picture.

Schools Swing with Hi-Lites

"Jerico" by Shorty Rogers and "The Spanish Flea" by Herb Alpert were presented by the Hi-lites stage band at the pop concert, December 2. The band traveled to other schools to provide music for proms, homecomings, and dances; they attended a music clinic at the College of Emporia.

Pat receives '67 superior bandsman award from Mr. Frederick.

Mr. O'Connell, director of choral department.

Choral Department

Forms New Group

Under a new director, Mr. O'Connell, the Seaman choral department consisted of a general chorus concert choir and the Seamanaires. The concert choir appeared on television and radio.

A new Viking vocal group, the Seamanaires, originated this year. The group consisted of eight boys and eight girls. The Seamanaires practiced on their own time and performed for various groups in the community. Along with the concert choir, they participated in the pop concert, spring concert, and Christmas vespers. The Seaman annual musical, presented by music students was entitled BYE, BYE BIRDIE.

Chorus Class gets down to some serious business???

Typists drill for excellence.

Mrs. England lends a helping hand.

Mrs. England, Mrs. Woodburn, Mr. Pierce, and Mr. Bierman, the Business Education teachers.

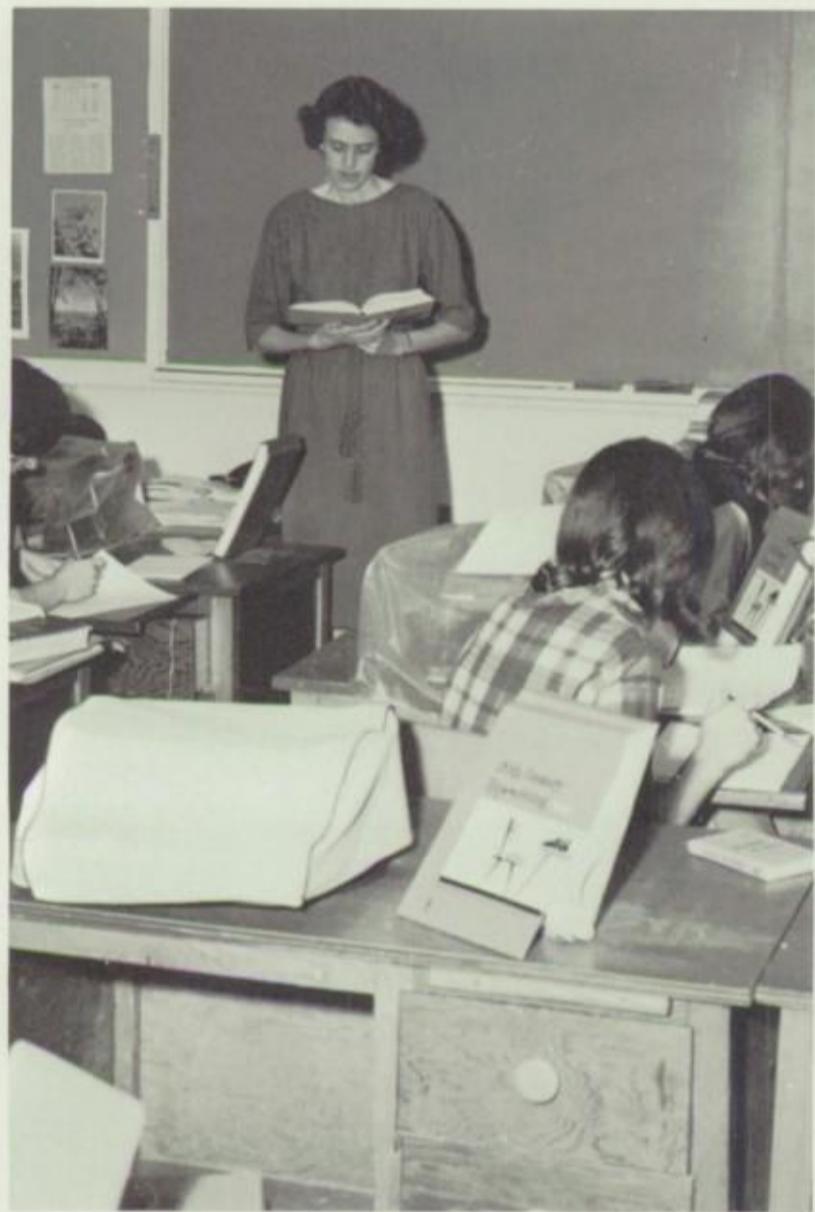

Again this year Seaman's business department continued to offer many courses to aid students in preparing for the business world.

In the first year typing and shorthand classes, the students learned the correct and basic procedure for typing and taking dictation. Learning to type with speed and accuracy was the goal of beginning typing. Shorthand endeavored to bring the student's speed up to 80 words a minute by the end of the first year.

Typing II, referred to as office practice, consisted of many different units. Among these units were filing, interviewing, data processing, and an office practice packet with daily jobs. Shorthand II developed accurate dictation and transcription speed. Both advanced courses prepared students with experience for business jobs.

The essential grammar of the business world was taught to students in Business English classes. Business machines class acquainted students with the operation of basic machines used in business.

Business Classes Work for Advancement

Mrs. Woodburn dictates to class.

Mr. Pierce aids his class.

Mr. Hundley helps one of his students.

Ride em, cowboy!

"Hey, fellows, you look nice!"

Not much cooking here.

Scrub brush clean.

Vocational Arts Develops Skills

The Vocational Arts Department consists of Home Economics, Industrial Arts, General Shop and Special Education. Home Economics helps to develop an understanding of values in the girls. In the boys' class of Home Economics, they learn the basics of sewing and cooking. Industrial Arts is a class in which skills in woodworking are taught. General Shop is directed toward metal work. This year Special Education is under the supervision of Mr. Hundley.

Vocational Arts Teachers: Mr. Henry, Mr. Hoch, Mrs. Rhea, Mr. Asher.

T & I Continues to Prepare Students for Future Jobs

Going into its fourth year, the Trade and Industry class continued preparing seniors for future jobs. In this class the students received on-the-job training. Trade and Industries consists of two hours.

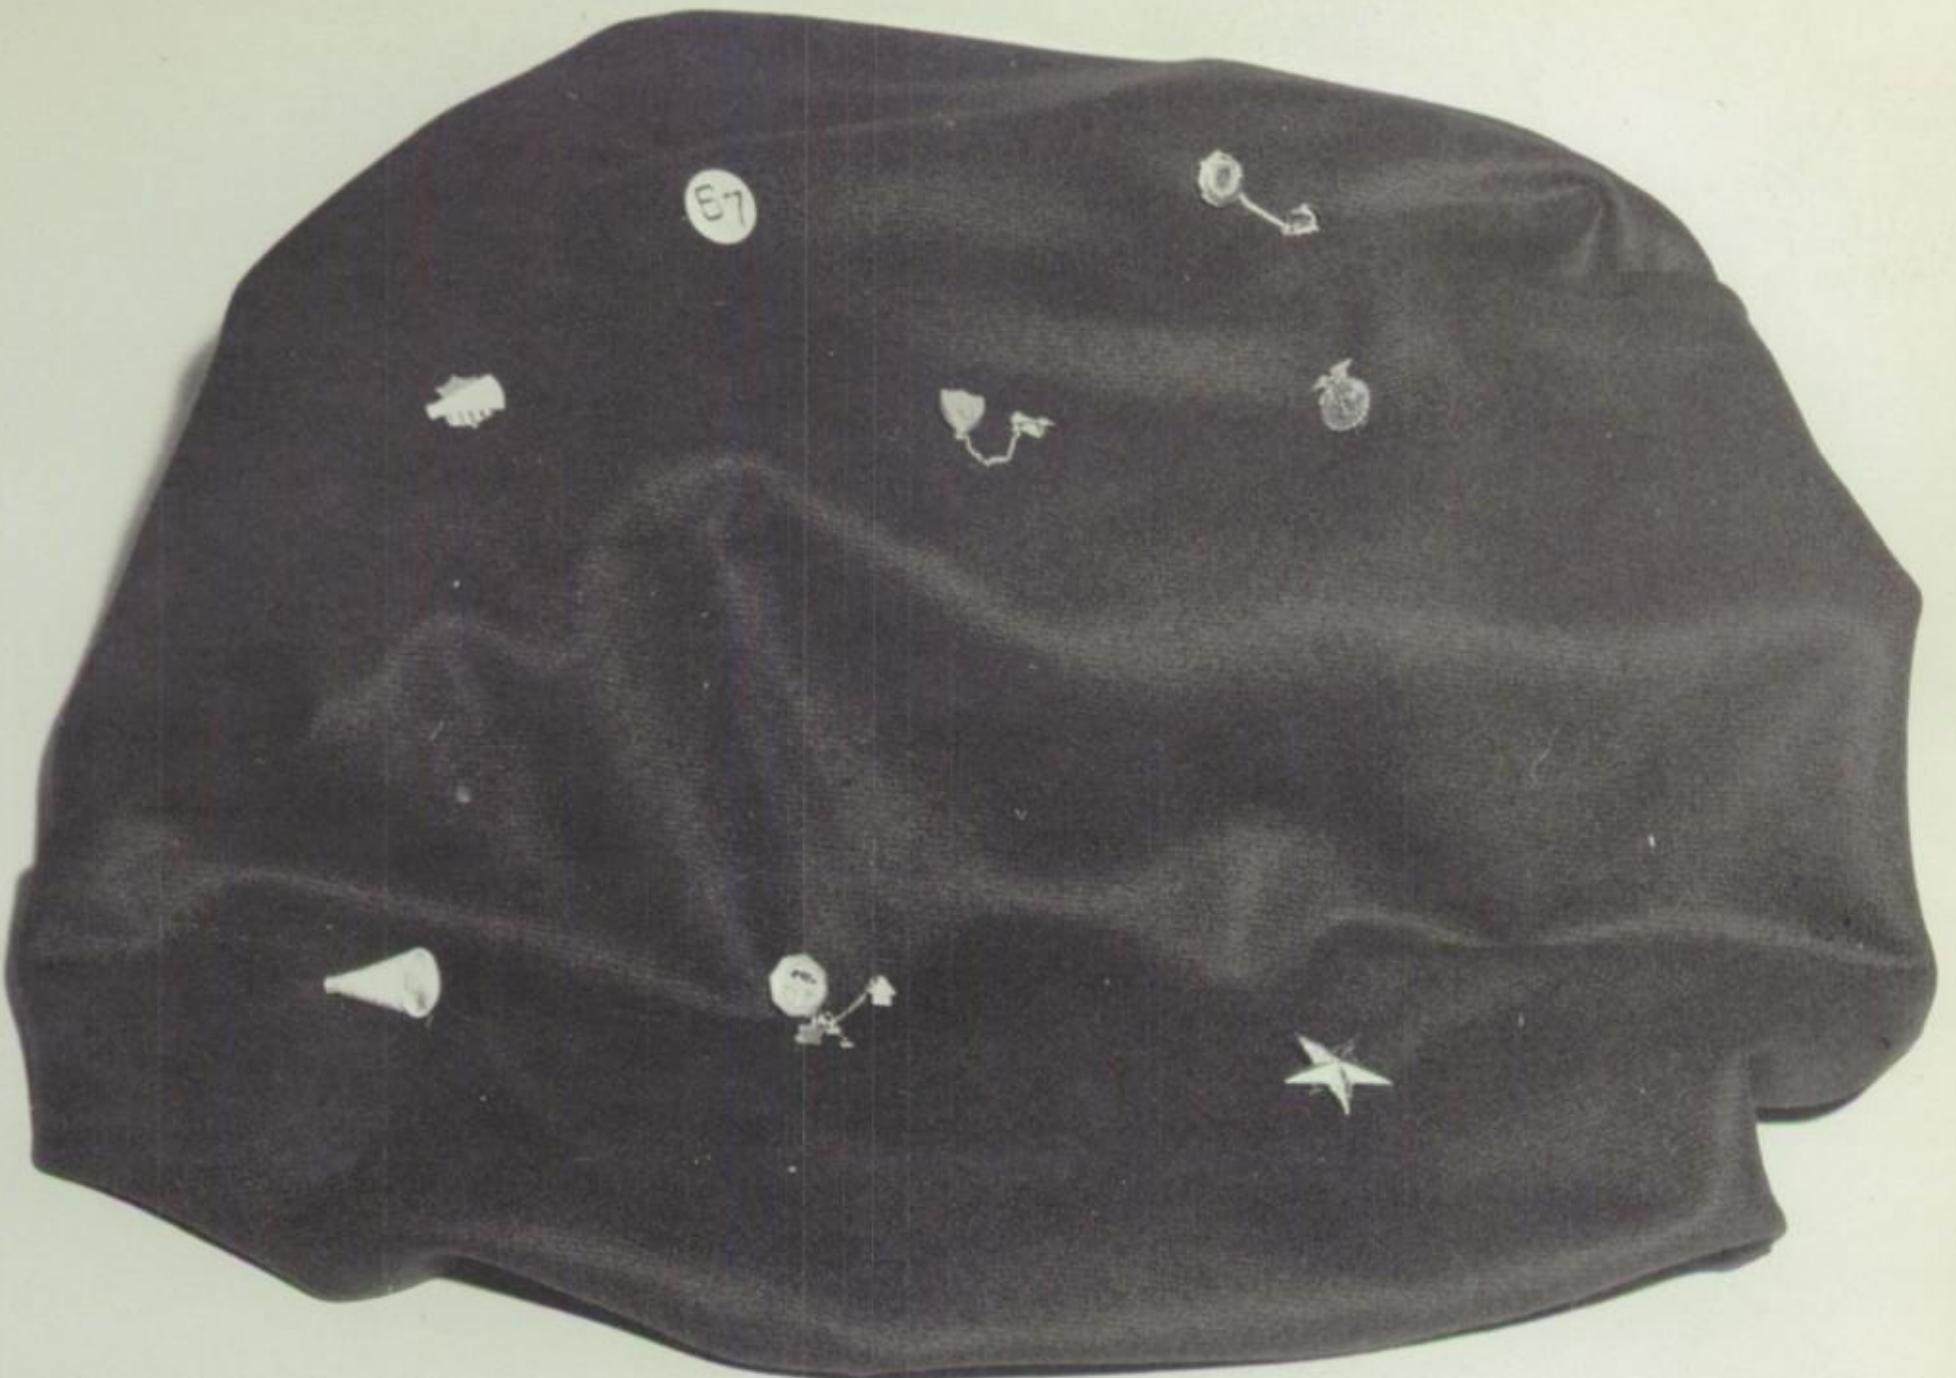

In the generally related hour the students study the laws and regulations that control business, employees, and employers. The relationship of the employee and the employer and their duties to each other are also studied. The studying of manuals which deal directly with one's job is done in the directly related hour.

The yearbook staff struggles to meet the deadline.

"We want a book not necessarily bigger, but better than ever." The 1967 Yearbook staff echoed the cry of most Seaman staffs and then set out for the Yearbook Conference at Kansas University to study procedures and to "pick the brains" of the other schools and experts in the field of yearbook compilation.

On September 30, the Seamanites had a chance to exchange autographs at the annual yearbook varsity.

Council Expresses New Ideas for '67

Established just four years ago, the Student Advisory Council experienced a very successful year. The membership of the Council included the Vice President of each class in 1966-67.

The S. A. C. sponsored lyceums, slacks day, and student exchange days. New to the Seaman High School, exchange program was Topeka High. Dances sponsored by the Council were the Winter formal, "Moonlight on Ice," and the "Queen of Courts," both big successes.

This year SAC sent five students to Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, for one week. In exchange, they sent seven of their students to Seaman for one week. During that week the Sturgeon Bay students attended classes and visited local points of interest. This exchange was felt to be a profitable experience for all of those involved.

Did I say that??

Cheerleaders Display High Enthusiasm

The past summer the varsity cheerleaders, accompanied by Miss Glick and Mrs. Rhea, spent an inspiring week at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, where they learned the techniques of a first-rate cheerleader. The cheerleaders were presented with the spirit stick for displaying the most enthusiasm of all the cheerleaders during the week. They also received a first place, second place, and three third place ribbons, and an honorable mention award in competition against schools from various parts of the United States.

This year the cheerleaders have presented satirical skits lampooning the opposing schools at all the pep assemblies and have worked on new cheers that they learned in Dallas. The pep club sponsors, Miss Glick, Mrs. Rhea, and Mrs. England, have contributed a great deal of time and effort to the various activities of the cheerleaders.

New Uniforms Inspire Pep Club

Because of the new uniforms, the Seaman Pep Club made a fresh appearance at this year's games. The outfits consisted of red blazers, blue shells and blue A-line skirts. Crests distinguished between Honor Pep and Regular Pep. Also new to Pep Club this year was Mrs. England, who joined Miss Glick and Mrs. Rhea as club sponsors.

With the big sophomore class entering, the Pep Club membership was increased to 167. A new event, was the Atchison High School Pep Club Convention which nine girls from Seaman attended.

Together with the Pep Club, the entire school cheered the boys to victory and success.

*Literary Book
Chief Objective of Bookworms.*

The main objective of the Bookworms Club was to read and discuss various books throughout the year. Two of the books read by the club were CRIME AND PUNISHMENT and DOCTOR ZHIVAGO. On February 9, the members went to K.U. to see SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL.

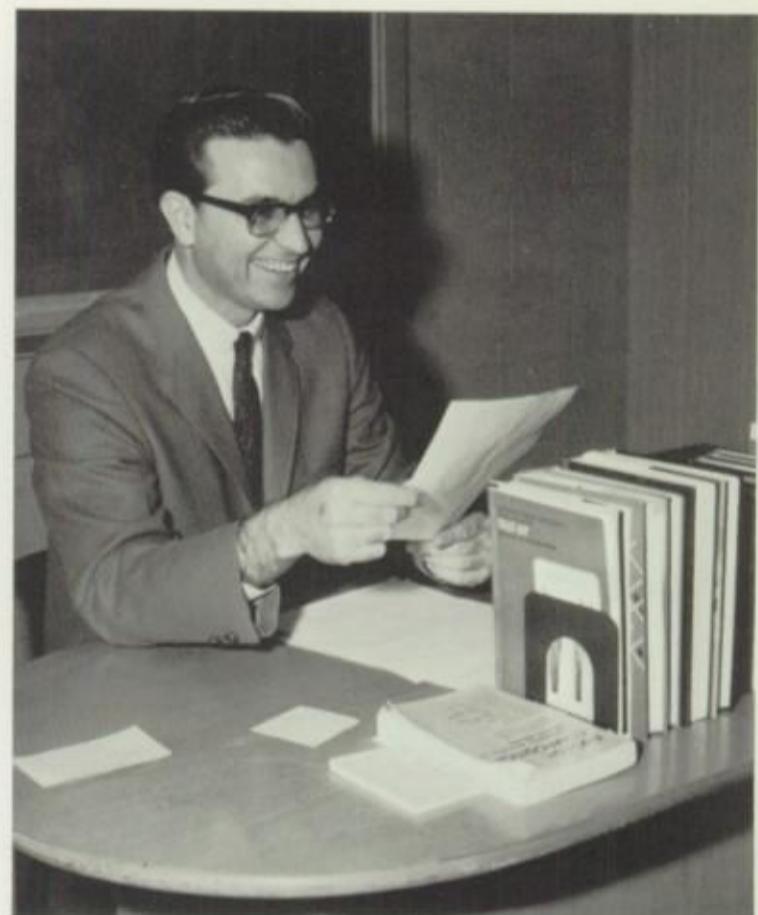

Besides reading and discussing books, the Bookworms undertook many money-making projects. Recipes were collected from the faculty and student body to make a recipe book. Writings composed by Seaman students were combined into a literary book. For the benefit of the student body, the Bookworms sold paperback books. All of these activities helped to make 1966-1967 a prosperous year for the Bookworms.

Vikings Continue Tradition of Giving

The Viking Club, under the supervision of Mr. Emrich, continued its tradition of giving. The service that the students take advantage of the most is the candy counter. In past years candy was sold during the lunch hour; however, this year the candy counter was open only in the morning.

The Viking Club provided the Homecoming and Winter Formal with bands. After home games, the football boys were fed by the club. Pictures of wrestlers and the track team were also sponsored by the Vikings.

Waste baskets were bought by the Viking Club and placed in the halls to help keep them clean.

Spanish Club Has Impressive Year

The annual Christmas party was again held, as Spanish Club members exchanged novelty gifts and broke a pinata. A trip to Kansas City in May to see "The Sand Pebbles" was topped with dinner at the Casa de Montes.

Other activities were the Language Banquet and lunch at the La Siesta. To end the year, the sophomore and junior members sponsored a farewell picnic to honor the seniors.

A point system was adopted in F.T.A. this year which allotted points to members for assisting teachers by grading papers, typing, recording grades, tutoring and other miscellaneous work. After earning a certain number of points a member is awarded a pin and year guard.

Members traveled to Emporia to tour Emporia State Teachers College and to attend a football game. Staying overnight in dorms, the club spent two days at K-State for the K.F.T.A. meeting. The F.T.A. also sponsored a "teacher of the month" award and the SEAMAN CLIPPER published a writeup and picture about the honoree.

The bank was open for use every school day from 11:25 a.m. until 12:20 p.m. During this time, good banking habits were learned by the students through use of the bank, while those in the banking class were taught the fundamentals of banking. School organizations, students, and faculty took advantage of the convenient banking facilities.

Seaman Harriers Tie for Second

The cross-country squad finished in a tie for second place in the Centennial League. Mr. Carlson remarked, "As a whole the team did real well, and I was encouraged by the Sophomore squad." The school record of 11:05 was broken by Duane Tenpenny with a time of 11:02.

Strenuous workouts, consisting of three to eight miles each practice, catapulted the cross-country squad to a successful season.

Vikings Capture League Title

For the first time in Centennial League history, Seaman's Mighty Vikings captured the league title. Although ranked sixth out of seven in the pre-season coaches' poll, Seaman had little difficulty in overpowering their opponents.

"This year's team improved more than any team I've coached. It was a team that didn't realize they weren't supposed to win. They had much desire, determination, and pride in themselves, their team, and their school, which makes a terrific combination to beat." remarked Coach Mosley.

Tough Defense Sparks Viking Roundballers

Seaman lost the traditional Topeka West season opener but bounced back to win their first Centennial League battle with Washburn Rural. This year's team was a young one with four senior lettermen, four juniors, and one sophomore. In league play the Vikes tallied a record of five wins and seven losses. ## Homecoming Royalty

"1967"

Queen Jo Hafner and King Dick Stalcup were crowned at the half-time ceremonies of the Seaman-Washburn game, October 7. The pep club formed a star, while the band formed a rainbow and played "Moon River" carrying out the theme, "Shower of Stars."

The candidates-Jo Hafner, Dianne Vandiver, Sherri Szafran, Sue Dillon, and Vickie Campbell-were escorted onto the field by Ed Sims, Duane Tenpenny, Dan Redmon, Dan Sterling, and Randy Pachosa. King Candidates were Dick Stalcup, John Prochaska, Alan Pollom, Bill Bateman, and Sonny Cutright.

New this year at the Seaman homecoming was a red velvet robe and tiara worn by the queen. Carrying roses for the queen was Brenda Hoch; Carol Lauffer and Tracy Willis carried the crowns. The robe was carried by Kelly Glaze; and Pam Carter, pep club vice-president, presented the queen with a bouquet of red roses. The B-team cheerleaders presented the attendants with long-stemmed red roses and charms, gifts from the pep club.

After the Viking's 47-7 victory, the royalty presided over the traditional homecoming dance in the gym. The Esquires, a rock'n roll band from Topeka, provided the music.

Oh Dick, My Make-Up!!

Not Too Fast!

Check That Queen Out!

"Queen of Courts"

During halftime of the Seaman-Highland Park basketball game of February 18, Brenda Ostrander was crowned 1967 Queen of Courts. Her attendants, Pam Carter, Bonnie Langston, Jeannie Matney, and Cheryl Rickel, were escorted by Joe Eck, Charles Kessler, Marvin Henry, Bob Ribordy, and Gary Pence. The Queen was presented with a bouquet of long-stemmed roses and a charm, and all five girls were given red rose corsages. A dance sponsored by SAC was held from 9:30 to 11:30, where dancers enjoyed the music of the "Prisoners of Soul."

"Moonlight on Ice"

If you don't give me a plate with some of that cake, I'll die of starvation.

Watch those dark corners, Larry!

Let's take this home for a souvenir; they'll never miss it.

"Moonlight on Ice" was the theme chosen by the Student Advisory Council for the annual winter formal. The music was provided by the Topeka West Dance Band. The scenery was accented by a small foot bridge placed in the middle of the gym. A tiny brook ran under the bridge from the foot of the bandstand to a miniature pond. For all the students who attended, it was an evening that will long be remembered.

Anyone for a little skating!!!!

Don't worry. He didn't see us.

The dreamy moonlight, soft music, and glowing atmosphere affects most everyone.

Oh, Sonny! I'm too old for you.

Jo Hafner must be a little thirsty.

Never before has such romanticism been displayed.

If they only knew what was in here!

If they could hear me sing, they'd put me on the mike.

"Pacific Shores"

"Pacific Shores" was the theme chosen by the Junior class for the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Palm trees, grass huts and a fountain on a sandy shore made up the scenery. Music was provided by The Counts.

No, Charley, I don't want my picture taken!

Oh, Larry! I can't believe that!

Did you see those people?

Watch the birdie.

Very interesting.

Look at that.....

Going Somewhere?

so is Washburn University.

No standing still for us. Just as you, Washburn wants to move ahead, to accomplish things.

Washburn is large enough to help you do just that...large enough to provide quality education but small enough to let you be an individual...large enough to provide all the excitement of sports, contests and social events but small enough to give everyone the chance to participate, to succeed.

And Washburn is continually expanding its horizons... just as you are. New facilities are springing up to accommodate your future and ours.

If you're going somewhere...write the director of admissions, Washburn University, Topeka. We can go along together.
